February 20, 1987

I am replying to your letters of September 9 and October 17 to Ambassador Hartman enclosing correspondence from Mr. Robert Fern concerning the fate of Raoul Wallenberg. The Department of State is assisting our Embassy and Consulate by answering their correspondence so that they can cope with the extra burdens of maintenance and support work that resulted from the recent withdrawal of Soviet employees.

To emphasize our dedication to resolve the mystery of Mr. Wallenberg's fate, we raised his case with the Soviets through diplomatic channels after he was made an honorary U.S. citizen. To date the Soviets have not responded. However, our efforts to resolve the tragic mystery of Mr. Wallenberg's fate will continue until the Soviets provide a full and satisfactory clarification of their actions in his case.

We have pressed our efforts both in bilateral meetings and international forums. In 1982, the U.S. Representative to the U.N. Human Rights Commission urged the Soviet Union to make a "humanitarian gesture which would contribute to universal good-feeling, namely a renewed search and full report, which may lay questions to rest; or else in the best of all possible outcomes, result in the discovery of the whereabouts of a man who stands among the heroes of our time." At a February 1983 session of the Commission, the U.S. Alternate Representative again raised the issue of Raoul Wallenberg, whom he termed "one of the genuine heroes of World War II, and one of the war's most noble spirits." He suggested the U.N. Human Rights Commission's Working Group on Disappearances be authorized to make a renewed search and a full report on the case. Most recently, at the Vienna CSCE Review Meeting in December, 1986, the head of the U.S. delegation, Ambassador Warren Zimmermann, repeated our concerns about Wallenberg's welfare and whereabouts.

We continue to work closely with the Swedish Government to investigate reports alleging that Mr. Wallenberg might still be alive. Thus far, we have been unable to substantiate this information. Nevertheless, we will maintain a cooperative effort with the Swedish Government and other interested parties to seek information that will clarify the fate of this brave man.

The Honorable
Howard H. Hetzenbaum,
United States Senate.

On January 17, 1985, President Reagan issued a statement to mark the fortieth anniversary of Raoul Wallenberg's disappearance and to commemorate "his heroic deeds in saving thousands of Hungarian Jews." In his statement, the President said, "We will continue to insist that the Soviet Union has a moral obligation to answer, once and for all, the questions we have about his fate."

If we can be of assistance to you in this or any other matter, please do not hesitate to contact us.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

D. Edward Fox
Assistant Secretary
Legislative and Intergovernmental Affairs
